

Limbo Davenports

Davenport Surname DNA Project

The "Limbo" Davenports

The individuals listed on this page belong to what we tentatively call the "Limbo Davenports". Their genealogical status, at this point in time, remains in limbo. So far we have three surnames - Davenport, Woodruff, and Overton - who have ancestors living very close to each other - and who also have matching Y-DNA. Three of the Davenports were at one time believed to be James River Davenports. Three other Davenports are documented Pamunkey descendants who trace back to Davis > Martin > John. They descend from two different sons of John. Descendents of another of John's sons match the Pamunkey's. The Woodruff's match this group, but not other Woodruff's. The same can be said for the Overton. As more information is collected on these lines, we hope to pinpoint where the connections occurred. The last box in each line represents the participant and his kit number.

- 1
- 2
- 3
- 4
- 5
- 6
- 7
- 8
- 9

Woodruff's

Overton

Markers with mutations

- 464
- 576
- 395 S1b
- 413a

? = Mutation somewhere in this line.